Stricken by polio at age two, Saima was partially paralyzed. Yet, even as a young girl, she refused to let the disease get the best of her. She limped down the long dusty road to school so often, and studied so hard, that she became the first woman in her family to go to college.

Saima's native Pakistan is one of only three countries on earth where polio is still endemic; Afghanistan and Nigeria are the others. Polio, as Saima knows all too well, attacks children with devastating, paralyzing results. The disease can be prevented by swallowing two drops of polio vaccine. Yet in small pockets of Pakistan, some parents have refused to allow their children to take the vaccine. The recent polio outbreak in Syria is a reminder that, whenever children anywhere go unvaccinated, every child is at risk.

It will take courage – and the efforts of unstoppable women like Saima – to rid Pakistan, and the world, of polio once and for all. As Rotarians we have adopted this as our cause and it is up to Gastonia East Rotary to do its part. Donating is easy!
